RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 50 pages. OCLC Number: (OCOLC)48802664 Subject: Children and violence -- United States. Excerpt: . . . ir peers. So if indeed these figures are true, and mass media is telling the stories, what kind of culture have they defined Todays hearing is not about the First Amendment, pointing fingers, assessing blame or condemning the entertainment industry. It is instead about corporate responsibility and the stewardship of public trust. As a parent of two small kids, I know that child-rearing starts in the home and believe that parents cannot shirk their responsibility to police their kids activities to limit their exposure to violence. But I say to our panel today that we cannot do it alone. Yes, the First Amendment is a right, but with it comes a weighty responsibility, so to a large degree we must rely on you, the leaders of the entertainment industry, to do the right thing by not marketing violent material to our kids. So today we are here to do what parents on their own do not have the collective power to do: demand that the entertainment industry tell us what they have done, what they are going to continue to do to prevent the marketing of violent material to kids. Let me say first and foremost that I am deeply troubled by the FTCs conclusion in its April 2001 follow-up report to Congress that states the music recording industry has not taken any visible steps with respect to explicit-content-labeled music. Ms. Rosen, several months have gone by, and I am hopeful that you will have some good news to report today on its effect in that regard. I would hate to think that the music recording industry is out of tune with...
