Not illustrated. 1867 Excerpt: . . . the Christian toward entire sanctification there is progression; the actual attainment of entire sanctification is instantaneous; just as the approach toward regeneration is progressive, while the actually being regenerated is instantaneous. But how is this present actual state of sanctification to be realized Says the inquirer, I have been growing in grace. I have been increasing in the knowledge and love of God and the Savior, and in the fruits of the Spirit. Now I wish to become a complete, s full, a perfect Christian. My heart is awakened to the importance and desirableness of a full salvation. How can I attain it The thing to be reached is perfect love, perfect faith, perfect rest in God. The condition of such a blessing is perfect devotion, a perfect consecration, a full surrender of our souls and bodies, our all to the keeping of Christ and the...
