Ezra Ripley, D.D The short time allowed for preparation, the weakness arising from a recent sickness, and my comparative youth in the ministry, will give me large claims on your candor. The materials, too, are not abundant. The deceased was not connected conspicuously with any great revolutionary movements, political or religious. He published but little, and that on no great public occasion, or deeply exciting subjects. It has been his highest ambition to excel in a sphere humble in the eye of man, but highest of all in the eye of God, the office of a faithful minister of Jesus Christ. Many of his best thoughts, his noblest acts, have been unrecorded, save in the book of life. He kept nothing in the form of a journal, except a memorandum of a few facts and resolutions, at intervals of five, ten, and twenty years; and even these he had scruples about preserving. I have serious objections, says he in the memorandum, to the keeping of a diary to be inspected after death, even if it could be kept with exactness and truth. What is bad in me, why should the world know, further than it observes? and if there be anything good, by the grace of God, will not the daily exhibition of it be the best evidence to the world? I have not therefore many public acts, or documents, wherewith to illustrate the character of the deceased. But to this audience he might say, as Paul said to Timothy, Thou hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, long-suffering, charity, patience. If I present...
